AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years continues to secure patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1873 ... JOHN TAGGART"

RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA

of Chronic and Acute Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago Sciatica, Kidney, and Nervous Diseases, after years of suffering, by taking Dr. Fitler's Vegetable Rheumatic Syrup—the scientific discovery of J P Fitler, M. D., a regular graduate physician, with whom we are personally acquainted, who has for 30 years treated these diseases exclusively with astonishing results. We believe it our christian duty after deliberation, to conscientiously request sufferers to use it, especially persons in moderate circumstances who cannot afford to waste money and time on worthless mixtures. As clergymen we seriously feel the deep responsibility resting on us in publicly endorsing this medicine. But our knowledge and experience of its remarkable merit fully justifies our action Yours truly, &c., Rev C. H Ewing, Media, Penn'a, suffered sixteen years, became hopeless Rev. Thomas Murphy, D. D., Frankford, Philadelphia. Rev J B. Davis, Hightstown, New Jersey Rev. J. S Buchanan, Clarence, Iowa Rev G. G Smith, Pittsford, New York. Rev. Joseph Beggs, Falls Church, Philadelphia. Other testimonials from Senators, Governors, Judges, Congressmen, Physicians, &c., forwarded gratis with pamphlet explaining these diseases. One thousand dollars will be presented to any medicine for same diseases showing equal merit under test, or that can produce one-fourth as many living cures. Any person sending by letter a description of affliction will receive without charge (if considered curable) a legally signed guarantee, naming the exact number of bottles warranted to cure I agreeing to refund amount paid in case of its failure to cure. Price per bottle, $1.50; can be bought as used. Afflicted invited to write for medical advice on above diseases only. No charge for reply, which will contain much valuable information acquired by a lifetime practice. No compulsion to buy medicine. Address Dr. Fitler, Philadelphia. Printed explanations of the disease also furnished.

ever invented. This simple little machine, which is no less than

winds the thread on a bobbin without the use of a person's hands, as even as thread is wound on a spool by the manufacturers. This, as every lady knows, is a very important thing in order to get an even tension, and it is very hard to do without these machines, which not only save an abundance of time, but wind one-third more thread on a bobbin. The Attachment is confined to the machine in the same place as the old one, and the price is within the reach of all. Can be seen in operation at

THURSDAY, DEC. 4, 1873.

THE VILLE DU HAVRE.

Our readers have been furnished with the particulars of the frightful catastrophe by which the French steamer Ville du Havre was sunk in mid-ocean, carrying down with her two hundred and twenty-three human beings. Ocean navigation the present year has been fraught with danger and disaster. The most experienced captains declare that the Atlantic has during the past twelve months been stormy beyond all precedent, and hardly a steamer has crossed it without encountering not only the peril of fogs, but of cyclones. Scores—indeed, hundreds, of sailing vessels, have been disabled and wrecked, and the number of steamers lost has been unprecedented. The harrowing details of the wreck of the Atlantic, the narrow escape of the passengers and crew of the City of Washington, the disappearance of the ill-fated Ismailia, all are familiar to every reader of the newspapers. But it is a long time since any vessel running between this country and European ports has met with so dreadful a fate in the open sea as the Ville du Havre.

The intelligence of the disaster carried distress and grief into a multitude of homes on both sides of the Atlantic, where the lost ones will be missed as none but the bereaved can realize, and the feeling of sorrow for the unfortunate passengers extends outside the circle of immediate relatives and friends, for among the victims were many widely known public men, whose loss to the pulpit, the bench, the bar, and in business circles, seems irreparable.

Until yesterday, the people in this country were ignorant of the manner in which the fatal collision occurred, and there was a general disposition to take a most charitable view of the circumstances and trust that it was through no carelessness of the officers of steamer or ship. But the statements telegraphed yesterday and which appear this morning in our columns, unless they be wilfully untrue, cast the terrible responsibility upon the steamer's officers. The night was clear and the stars visible, says the despatch, and the wind brisk but not heavy. The sailor who was on the lookout says the Loch Earn was seen fifteen or seventeen minutes before she crashed into the steamer's side. The second officer, who was in charge of the deck,—and who expiated his incompetency by a terrible death—"gave confused orders to the man at the wheel." The ship came down with nearly all her canvass spread; there was no time to waste in hesitation, none to be lost in making mistakes. The few precious minutes were wasted; there was a shout, a crash, and the hundreds of passengers who had been tranquilly sleeping in apparent security, having full confidence in officers and vessel, were awakened to the terrible reality of danger. There is a wild rushing to and fro; a screaming, struggling mass of people cover the deck. The cowardly crew make off with the first available boat; the passengers are getting others ready, when the masts fall on the shivering, terrified, half-naked crowd, crushing scores with mangled, bleeding limbs; beneath the heavy spars. Then there is more delay. Forty minutes from the time of the collision—forty minutes which must have seemed ages to those waiting face to face with death—the disabled vessel gives a great lurch and goes down, and the sea goes over all. Then a few rise to the surface, and float clinging to planks and bits of spars, washed over by every wave. Some of them are picked up by the boats hours afterwards; many, exhausted, let go their hold and sink never to rise. It is horrible. One may scarcely dare imagine the scene, and a feeling of indignation irresistibly rises in every breast when it appears from late despatches that to the carelessness or incompetency of the officers and the lack of discipline on the part of the crew, this shocking sacrifice of human life may be attributed.

It seems impossible to account for the collision in any other manner. It has been stated above, that the ship was seen from the steamer, certainly the steamer or her lights ought to have been seen from the ship, especially as it was light enough for the tardy boats to see and rescue the perishing people floating about on the waves after the disaster. It will need to be very clearly proved that there was not negligence of some sort before the court of inquiry, by which the matter is to be investigated, will acquit the responsible parties.

The highways of the Atlantic are crowded with vessels and indiscriminately going and coming and approaching each other under such circumstances that it is singular collisions are not more frequent. The utmost vigilance is necessary for safety, and a momentary lapse of this vigilance may be productive of the gravest results. Every one instinctively asks if there is no possibility of devising a mode by which the great pathways of the ocean can be distributed between vessels passing in different directions so as at least to diminish if not to remove the present danger of collision. Something of this kind has often been suggested, but has never been made the subject of anything like negotiation or agreement. By assigning a certain track to vessels bound east and a certain other space to those coming westward some time may be lost, and the fondness for quick passages may be disappointed, but this is nothing if thereby the danger of collision is really lessened.

Attorney-General George H. Williams, who has been appointed to the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was born in Columbia county, N. Y., in 1823. After receiving an academic education, and completing his law studies, he removed to Iowa, where he rapidly rose to the eminence due his merit. In 1853 he was appointed Chief Justice of the Territory of Oregon and was reappointed in 1857, but resigned. He was elected to the United States Senate from that State in 1865, and at the expiration of his term was appointed Attorney-General of the United States. He was also appointed and served as one of the members of the Joint High Commission which negotiated the Treaty of Washington. Judge Williams does not bring to the Chief Justiceship so brilliant a reputation as some of the persons prominently mentioned; but he is a man of sound judgment and stainless integrity, and while the appointment is not received with enthusiasm, it is generally believed that he will fill the office with credit.

Two only of the eleven passengers from Boston, on the Ville du Havre, were saved, and it is not a little singular that these two were children. Eleven of the twenty-eight passengers saved were females.

There are about twenty thousand persons in Canada who have emigrated from the United States, and this class has some half dozen representatives in the Dominion Parliament, who are among the most influential men of that body.

It is charged that the Mormon agents expended a good deal in Washington, last winter, with a view to influence Congress, and the Gentile element demands that the matter be investigated. They allege that a prominent Representative received $2000 and they can produce vouchers to prove that such payment was made. There will probably be an investigation in which some startling disclosures are anticipated.

The Executive Council of the Joseph Arch Committee has decided to call a meeting of the workingmen of Boston in Faneuil Hall on the 11th inst., to petition for the repeal of certain laws which they deem inimical to their interests, and to consider Supervising Architect Mullet's reports on the eight hour law.

Right Rev. B. B. Smith, D. D., Bishop of Kentucky, has issued a paper announcing that Dr. Cummings will be tried for violation of Section 1, Canon 9, title 2, and saying that any Episcopal act of his, pending this trial, will be null and void. All members of the church are enjoined to give no countenance to the movement in which Dr. Cummings is engaged.

The engineers have tested the meeting of lines and grades between the central and west shaft headings of the Hoosac Tunnel, and the variation in alignment was only nine-sixteenths of an inch. The difference in heights between the two workings was one and one-half inch.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS ON "SALARY GRAB." The New York Tribune says of Fernando Wood's nomination. for Speaker, by the Democratic caucus:—

"His nomination was sought and obtained by the back-pay grabbers as an indorsement for their conduct from the National Democratic party. County and State Conventions had, with one voice and in severe terms, condemned their action, and the Democratic press had unanimously denounced it. Selfishly blind to the interests of their party, they set about the work of securing for themselves a whitewashing verdict from its Representatives in Congress, by the nomination of one of their number as a candidate for Speaker. Their purpose was, of course, to save themselves from the wrath of their constituents when they come up for re-nomination next fall, by being able then to say that the Democratic party, as a national organization, declined to take notice of the back pay bill, and supported for Speaker a man who voted for it and pocketed the money. The scheme succeeded to the great amazement and grief of many of the best and purest men on the Democratic side of the House, who did not imagine that their associates would have the audacity to thus defy public opinion."

The New York Times says:—

"The Democratic caucus, after having refused to take a position as a party in favor of the repeal of the salary bill, seems to have marked its entire approval of the increase by choosing for its party leader one of those most responsible for the passage of the bill. If any one individual member of the last House was responsible for the passage of the salary bill, that member was undoubtedly Mr. Wood. When the proposition of Mr. Sargent to raise the salary to $7,500 was voted upon and at first lost, its defeat was saved by Mr. Wood rising in his place and changing his vote from no to aye. This change was made in a particularly conspicuous manner, and was applauded from the Democratic side of the House."

THE FEELING IN HAVANA. An Havana despatch reports that Captain-General Jovellar has issued the following proclamation:

"Inhabitants of Havana:—

It is my duty to prevent public opinion from going astray. I consider it opportune to address you as a friend, recommending the utmost calmness under the present circumstances. The Virginius question has given Spanish enemies opportunity to spread false rumors, certain that they would produce an effect on your ardent and unimpeachable patriotism, while their only object was to promote the rebel cause. It is true that treaties have been made and that I have received communications in relation to them; but if I have managed to inspire you with any confidence, give me proof of it by your reflective and tranquil behavior. Be assured I will do everything possible in behalf of the interests of the Province and dignity of the nation, which like yourselves, I hold in higher esteem than life.

THE PORTLAND TRANSCRIPT

FOR 1874.

New and Attractive Premiums.

Agents Wanted!

The publishers of the PORTLAND TRANSCRIPT have made arrange ments to keep every department of this well-known and popular family paper in the highest state of efficiency during the coming year. Besides Original Stories, Sketches and Poems, by the best writers, especial attention will be paid to the department of Household Hints, and to Agricultural and Scientific Matters. It is our aim to secure short, crisp and sparkling stories and sketches. The new premiums, now ready for delivery, are a very attractive pair of French chromos, entitled "DELIGHT," and "ALARM," both of which are given to every subscriber who pays $4.25 in advance. These will be sent at once on receipt of subscriptions. No extra charges on account of delivering them by mail or by agent. They each represent two very beautiful children in graceful and expressive attitudes, the designs being entirely new, by a Parisian artist. One picture contains an elegant bunch of roses and rose-buds by which the turtles to the balcony on which the children stand, and their quiet delight is admirably portrayed. The other has a basket of ripe peaches and grapes, set off with bright leaves, and there has been attracted wasps, by which the boy and girl are alarmed. They are the most attractive premium pictures of the season. They are each mounted on white cardboard, full inches. The TRANSCRIPT will be sent to those who do not care for the chromos for $2.00 per year. Liberal commissions to agents who are wanted in every town. Address TRANSCRIPT, PORTLAND, MAINE.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Maine, in Legislature, assembled, on the first Wednesday of January, A. D. 1874.

The undersigned Petitioners, citizens of the County of Penobscot, in said State, respectfully show that the proprietors of Oldtown Bridge were incorporated by the Legislature in the year 1827, by the name of the Oldtown Bridge Corporation, for the purpose of erecting and maintaining a Toll Bridge across the Penobscot river at or near Oldtown Village, in Penobscot County; that by an additional act of the Legislature passed March 15th, 1830, a further time of two years was granted to said Proprietors to build and complete said Bridge; that said Proprietors, under said charter, built a toll bridge in accordance with its provisions, and opened the same for passengers and travel in the fall of 1831 and have maintained said bridge and taken toll for travel thereon to the present time; that by an act passed by the Legislature January 29th, 1835, it was enacted, that, after the expiration of forty years from the time said Bridge was opened for passengers, said Bridge should revert to the State. And your Petitioners aver that, said term of forty years ... [illegible]

The Application of Steam Power to Dentistry.

And in making this announcement, I desire, also, to put upon record, as a matter of fact, that I am the first operator in the world who has put into practical use, steam power in dentistry. For the past two months I have used it daily in every operation I have performed, and even excessively timid patients are delighted and charmed with the ease and absolute perfection with which it performs its work. Out of the many who have had operations performed by its aid, there has never been one, not a single one who has expressed a preference for the old fond methods, but upon the contrary, each one has been marked and profuse in their praise of this, the latest application of steam power. Very much might be said in its commendation, but the limits of an advertisement forbid, suffice it to say, refusing the facts fully, that were I to recommend anything in my practice which did not meet the approbation of my patients, it would be absolutely fatal to me, yet, so thorough y does this meet the wishes of all my patients, as well as myself, that I feel warranted in giving it a hearty and emphatic endorsement as the nearest approach to perfection which can possibly be imagined. The superiority of its work is beyond all comparison. Having understood that a certain interested party in this city is crying out "danger from explosion" to his patients, I desire to call attention to the following card from Mr. Sullivan, believing it with the remark that I never desire to use over thirty pounds steam pressure which every patient can see by the gauge for themselves. After reading this card, I trust all such parties forever hold their peace. Since it will be seen that the boiler has been constructed to carry 500—five hundred—pounds pressure per square inch, whereas, I use but 30—thirty.

J. FREDERICK BABCOCK, D. D. S., Dentist and Practitioner of Oral Surgery, Nos. 2, 3, 5 and 6, Kenduskeag Block, Bangor, Me.

CARD.

This is to certify that I, Daniel Sullivan of Bangor, Steam Boiler Manufacturer, have just completed to the order of Dr. J. F. Babcock, one of my patent Upright Tubular Steam Boilers made with the special intent and purpose of having it one of the safest ... and strong as to stand under ordinary everyday usage, if required, 500 pounds pressure per square inch, and I hereby guarantee that its strength is such as to safely stand a much greater pressure, if necessary, than the said 500 pounds per square inch.

NEW YORK Dec 3 Details of the wreck of the Ville du Havre report that the Loch Earn was sighted by those on board of the steamer from fifteen to seventeen minutes before the collision occurred

KINDNESS TO SURVIVORS.

LONDON Dec 3 Eleven survivors of the loss of the French steamer Ville du Havre have departed hence and will arrive in Paris to-night. The Railway kindly provided a special saloon car for their passage During their short stop in London everybody vied in comforting the survivors Marks of affection ate sympathy were evinced even by store keepers, who refused to accept payment for goods ordered, and their offers were with difficulty resisted The agents of the Company provided funds while Morgan Brown and others offered home and comforts to the unfortunates All this was unnecessary several of the surviving gentlemen having saved sufficient from the sinking ship

CRIMINAL WASTE OF TIME.

It is a remarkable fact that James Bishop and other had seemingly ample time to dress completely Bishop's watch stopped at twenty eight minutes past ... and Mr Cramer's watch at half past two exactly This leads to the supposition ... of much valuable time in the lowering of the boats owing to ...

WANT OF ... OF DISCIPLINE

After the collision no orders were given the officers were distracted, and each person helped himself The long boat contained no first class passengers The sailors and coal boys rushed and took possession of the boats all of the rescues being effected subsequently

PRECIOUS MOMENTS LOST

The ship Loch Earn was prevented from making immediate preparation for rescue owing to the ignorance on board whether the Ville du Havre had sustained serious or slight damage This may probably be accounted for by inability to communicate intelligence between French speaking and English speaking officers of either ship As a consequence the boats were not lowered until the ill fated steamer had gone down

NO LIFE PRESERVERS

On board of the Ville du Havre no life preservers could be found in their proper places One gentleman among the rescued searched four cabins for these articles in vain

CRUSHED TO DEATH

It had been ascertained that the occupants of three or four cabins amidships were probably killed when the prow of the Loch Earn crushed in the plates of the steamer

SUFFERINGS OF THE SURVIVORS

The greater number of those rescued had been floating from half an hour to an hour The captain of the Loch Earn had little comfort to offer the perishing survivors beyond an open heart and a good will The ladies changed their drenched night dresses for clothes and wrappings from the sailors' chests. Soon however it became a question whether the Loch Earn offered safety to the large company she now had on board

A COWARDLY PROPOSITION

Capt Surmont declared his determination to transfer the crew of the Ville du Havre to another ship when an opportunity offered leaving the passengers behind This was resisted by Waite and Bellknap, and after a consultation with the carpenter, Captain Surmont's opposition was overcome When the Trimountain was sighted the transfer was effected

DESTITUTION OF THE LADIES

The American Captain was a married man and offered the ladies increased comfort in the next cabin still when a landing was effected at Cardiff on Monday at midnight the ladies were in a state of semi nudity, some having only blankets none having bonnets and all having their feet covered with sailors stockings When they arrived at the hotel the agents immediately provided clothing All the ladies were assembled in the parlor for the purpose of dressing having a short notice to do so prior to their departure for London

A PAINFUL SCENE

When the signal was given that the time for starting had arrived the gentlemen asked if all were ready, an affirmative answer was given, and when the door opened all who witnessed the scene vividly realized the fearful tragedy which had occurred all the ladies being clad in deep mourning

HEROISM OF THE LADIES

The heroism of the rescued ladies was beyond all praise To Miss Hunter especially all gratefully tender acknowledgment of touching motherly care

AN INEFFICIENT OFFICER

The second officer who was in charge perished, but the sailor who was on the look out was rescued The latter maintains that ten minutes prior to the catastrophe he reported the vessel in sight to the officer The second officer gave confused orders to the men at the wheel

A SAGACIOUS ENGINEER

The few saved owe their lives to the sagacity of the Engineer who stopped the engines instantly, thus preventing the loss of all on board by lessening the distance between the Scotchman and the steamer Only one among the crew can speak English the remainder being Frenchmen.

THE VESSELS' COURSE.

The steamer was steering east south east on a starboard tack, falling off two points prior to striking The Scotch ship was running three points free on the port tack The weather was clear and the stars shining. The ship was carrying all her canvass except the studding sails Two hours latter the sea becoming somewhat rough has been opened at Cardiff The correspondent of the New York Herald endeavored to obtain an interview with Capt. Surmont, who blames the officer in charge, beyond which he is unable satisfactorily to explain the catastrophe.

DISTRESSING INCIDENTS

The following to the Herald is dated Paris Detailed accounts given by the survivors are harrowing and distressing in the extreme Mr Waite, who was accompanied by his sister on the voyage, became separated from her in the horrid vortex caused by the sudden sinking of the steamer When the latter went down huge waves came surging out from the closing of the momentary chasm, and amid boiling waters

BROTHER AND SISTER WERE TORN ASUNDER,

and the brother alone saved Miss Breeden left the wreck hand in hand with her father, but the latter was drowned James Bishop had secured two planks and gave one to his friend, G H Taylor, who was drowned. Bishop narrowly escaped. A sailor attaching himself to the plank, Bishop left it and swam for another. Robert McCoskey, a lad of 17, says he was aroused from sleep by the shock and rushed on deck where he found

NEARLY ALL PRAYING.

Mrs Bukley's invocations aloud sounded like inspiration Judge Rufus W. Peckham was standing near his wife encouraging all and saying 'If we must go down let us go down bravely" He observed Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Platt and Mrs. Kennett. The latter was bringing her infant on deck The little one had been a favorite of all the passengers She handed the child to the nurse while she went to fetch the second child, but before she was able to return the ship went down. Mr. Bult thinks he floated 20 minutes on a spar. Many were prevented from swimming having had their overcoats on. Capt. Surmont remains at Cardiff utterly prostrated.

All attribute the blame to a want of discipline on board

A DENIAL FROM THE AGENT

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—Midnight. The agent of the French Steamship Line says that the stories telegraphed in special despatches relative to the loss of the Ville du Havre cannot be correct, as the officers in command stand on the bridges and give their commands to the helmsman by signal and not by word of mouth

The helmsman has a large dial in front of him, on which he keeps his eyes fixed, and by whose changes he is guided. Two men are stationed at the bow and one at the top of the foremast as a lookout, and they keep in communication with the officer on the bridge

FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

First Session.

SENATE

WASHINGTON, Dec 3 1873

Bills introduced—To provide for the better protection of the northern and northwestern frontiers ... facilitate commerce between States, to organize the territory of Pembina to authorize the construction of the custom house etc., at Portland Oregon, to aid in the execution of the laws of Utah, to construct a fire-proof building in Nebraska City Nebraska Mr Morrill of Vermont addressed the Senate on a resolution instructing the Committee on Finance to consider the expediency of reporting a bill to provide for the resumption of specie payments in January 1875 Mr Morrill thought Congress should take advantage of present circumstances to return to specie payments, to relieve people of the fluctuation of currency, and people expect Congress to provide sound currency He controverted many objections which have been made to a return to specie payments He favored the plan that the Secretary of Treasury issue four year certificates at 3.65 per annum requiring the banks to keep a moiety of reserves on these certificates Government on the first of January, 1875, to pay its notes in cash, and to negotiate a loan of $200 000 000 in coin at 6 per cent certificates when redeemed to be used by the Treasury to pay claims, It would be an honor to the Republican party to sweep away this dark cloud of greenbacks and he would soon offer a bill for a return to a specie basis After an executive session the Senate adjourned

HOUSE

Mr Butler, of Mass, at the request of Mr Pinchback of La, moved that a portion of the resolution pending yesterday in regard to the Louisiana elections which applied to him (Pinchback) be laid on the table Mr Butler said that he would introduce a resolution to refer all credentials to the Election Committee This resolution, so far as it referred to Pinchback was laid on the table

Mr ... submitted a resolution instructing the Committee on Judiciary to enquire whether Congress has Constitutional authority to create corporations for constructing railroads or canals penetrating two or more States Mr Mitchell introduced a resolution providing for paying the losses sustained by Oregon from Indian depredations

Mr Cox offered a resolution to admit F C Davidson to a seat from the district of Louisiana

Mr Hale of Maine sought to raise the question whether the House would now consider the matter stating that his object was to have States called for bills in order that he might press the bill for the repeal of the increase of salary law, but the Speaker decided that Mr Hale was late in raising the point

Mr Butler of Mass, sent to the Clerk's desk and had read a certificate of Gov Kellogg of Louisiana dated the 20th of November 1873 stating that at a special election in the 4th district of Louisiana, Nov 24th Geo L Smith received the majority of the votes and was duly elected to represent that district in Congress

Mr Cox intimated that the certificates had been got up in Washington

An appeal to the House was made to give Louisiana the right to be heard through

Mr Mowery of La moved to amend by inserting the name of George L Smith instead of Davidson The amendment was agreed to—yeas 164 nays 91, and the oath of office was administered to Mr Smith

Mr Butler of Mass then moved that the credentials of the contestants for seats from Louisiana be referred to the Committee on Elections which committee was announced by the Speaker as follows Smith of New York, Thomas of N C Hazelton of Wis Todd of Pa, Pike of N H Sevier of Va Robinson of Ohio Harris of Tenn Arthur of Ky Speer of Pa and Lamar of Miss

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE At the Convention of delegates from the several Agricultural and Horticultural Societies of this county held in this city Tuesday, it was unanimously voted that it was the sentiment of the Convention, that Hon. S L Goodale, who had so well and ably served the State as Secretary of the Board of Agriculture, should be re-elected to that office at the next annual meeting of said Board, and that the member elect from Penobscot should use his best efforts and all honorable means to bring about Mr Goodale's re-election.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS. An important question has recently been decided in the U. S District Court at Portland, as to the rights of ship owners and consignees under the demurrage clause in what are known as the "Philadelphia or New Bills of Lading." This case was a libel against a cargo of coal delivered as follows, 100 tons at Winterport and balance at Bangor, for "Dem. as per new Bills of Lading." The defence was.—1st, That, as per Bill of Lading, the cargo was to be delivered at Bangor, the rights of the captain to demurrage was forfeited by stopping at Winterport, although he stopped by request of consignee, 2d, That before the coal was discharged the consignee had sold it, and the purchaser took the delivery of it from the vessel, and the captain left it in the purchaser's possession without receiving his freight till he had fully discharged his vessel at Bangor and thereby lost his lien, 3d, That, some part of the time while the vessel was discharging the weather was so inclement and wet that men could not be found to work and so much of the time should be deducted

The Court, upon each of the points of defence decided in favor of the libellant and decreed accordingly T W Vose appeared for the libellant and Blon Bradbury for the coal

BUCKSPORT ITEMS Francis E Wardwell Post, 25 G A R of Bucksport, is to have a course of entertainments this winter, commencing this evening with a lecture by Prof George Forsyth, Principal of E M C Seminary The entertainments are six in number and consist, with two exceptions, of home talent We have little doubt but that the charity fund of the Post will be strengthened by the proceeds of the course, certainly it deserves a liberal patronage

A new school house in district No. 9, in Bucksport, has just been completed and dedicated by the citizens The dedicatory address was delivered by V P Wardwell, Chairman of the Superintending School Committee. It is one of the finest, best finished and most inviting country schoolhouses in the county, and the district have reason to be proud of it.

At the annual meeting of Torrent Engine Company, No 2, of Bucksport, held Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected.—

E P Hill, Foreman Urias Smith 1st Assistant, T C Wiggin 2d Assistant A J Silsby, Foreman Hose Howard Dow 1st Assistant, LeRoy Finson, 2d Assistant J H Partridge, Treasurer, Edgar A. Lewis Clerk Holey Booth, Steward, Finance Committee—V P Wardwell A H Carley, Austin Saunders

The meeting was largely attended and harmony prevailed, the officers being elected unanimously

THE DAM AT TREAT'S FALLS To prove that a dam at Treat's Falls is no new project a gentleman showed us Saturday a letter, written over forty one years ago, of which the following is a copy —

Bangor, 15th Nov 1832

Capt Robert Parker
Brig Alpine, New York

SIR —I am directed by the subscribers of the Mill-dam Company to write you on the subject of your land which you purchased of me and Doct. Fiske The act of incorporation allows the Company to erect mills and build dams at Treat's falls or McMan's falls which is four miles above your land The directors incline to build the dam at Treat's falls if those who own land which is wanted for the purpose of completing the project will give the front and sell on reasonable terms some other land necessary to build a few Houses to accommodate the labourers, but if this cannot be obtained then they will build at McMan's falls But his would not benefit us who own land near Your friends here think you will be willing to do as much in proportion to the value of your land as any of us and as a meeting of Stock holders is at hand to determine where it shall be built we wish you to write us on the subject immediately on the receipt of this Perhaps you will authorize some one of your friends to act for you as they may think best for your interest If you say this, it is all that is asked There is a strong interest in favor of McMan's falls but if we act for our Interest we may secure them at Treat's falls

Your place will sell now for a handsome profit and if you wish to sell I think you may obtain from $1,500 to $2,000 Perhaps it would be well to send on the price you would sell for General Treat and myself think we know our own interest, we have agreed to give the corporation all our front below the County road, and sell them what more is need ed for Canals at an apprised value I confess I am anxious to have you do as we do to encourage them to build at Treat's falls It must be a great thing for us Please to write me an answer to this and you will oblige Your obt servt

BREEDING LAND LOCKED SALMON The Fish Commissioners last summer devoted considerable time in addition to their other labors to an examination of the feasibility of several localities for hatching and rearing land locked salmon, being well satisfied that this fish is a profitable one to breed After a time a site was selected for the necessary fixtures at the head of Sebec Pond inasmuch as an abundance of these fish are to be found there and other facilities are favorable for the enterprise At the outstart the Commissioners of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Prof Baird U S Commissioner of Fisheries, subscribed $1 500 and were to receive each a fourth of the hatch, the remaining fourth by the State Commissioners' stipulation, will be returned to the waters from which the parent fish are taken The matter of arranging hatching houses, ponds, etc, necessary for the purpose, was then given in charge of Mr H L Leonard of this city who found that nearly all the plans for the construction of the buildings and ponds, involved the outlay of a much larger sum of money than was at his disposal He accordingly set about the enterprise and after a while made arrangements for beginning the work, although it was then late in the season and the prospect of securing more than a small quantity of eggs, was not very flattering. For his purpose he had a hatching house built, 1 ... feet wide by 60 feet long and at its side a pond 1 ... feet wide by 121 feet long, fed by a pen stock 170 feet long from ship pond stream This pen stock is made of plank and is a foot square, the volume of water passing through it being sufficiently large to supply the pond, the depth of which varies from three and a half to four and a half feet There is also connected with the establishment a dam across the stream, one hundred feet in length The whole cost of the works thus far is $2 200, and the Commissioners pronounce them in many respects the best they have seen Owing to the lateness of the season but 221 fish were taken and the hatch if successful will not this year be very large All the appliances for taking parent fish, such as fish ways, traps, etc, have been prepared and next season Mr Leonard expects to secure a large supply of eggs and with the facilities which he has and the improvements to be made, the second attempt will, with ordinary success give to the projectors of the enterprise a large number of young fry, to distribute in their respective States and districts.

Land locked salmon are as game fish as any which sportsmen take and as an article of food are superior to the trout, and by many, considered equal to the true salmon They are very delicate to handle and rear, frequently wearing their noses, heads and bodies badly by rushing about to secure their liberty, and the bruised places soon become covered with white fungus and the fish die. The arrangements for breeding at Sebec Pond are such that the loss in this direction, will, with proper care be comparatively light The value of the fish for food will more than compensate the outlay for increasing the stock which is at present decreasing.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

SONGS OF THE SUN-LANDS is the title of a volume of poems by Joaquin Miller, which are full of a rich melody that carries the reader away to realms of fairy land The "Isles of the Amazons," is perhaps the best poem the volume contains, but there is in all of them an originality and sweetness of tone that can but be admired Roberts Brothers publishers, Boston Sold by Messrs. D Bugbee & Co

EVERYBODY'S PROVIDENCE This novel from the pen of Rebecca Perly Reed is one which at first does not awaken a deep interest in the mind of the reader, though as one becomes acquainted with the style and vein in which it is written, the warmth lacking before is supplied in full measure. The story is written to teach a lesson of faith. Published by the Congregational Publishing Co, Boston For sale by Messrs Bugbee & Co

MISS FORRESTER. The author of this volume, Mrs. Edwards, is a brilliant and pleasing writer, who never becomes dull or common place in the stories she gives the public The heroine in this case is at one time the decoy at a gambling house, then a governess, and finally the wife of a man whom she deceives as to her former life for the sake of wealth and position The tragic close of the adventures s career savors somewhat of the improbable, but the story is a very interesting one Sheldon & Co publishers For sale by Messrs, Bugbee & Co

WHAT KATY DID AT SCHOOL is the title of a charming story for girls by Susan Coolidge The scenes in the school life of the heroine are finely portrayed and the various phazes of character and disposition which the author has given the pupils of the school stand out in striking contrast The interest which each successive chapter awakens in the mind of the reader, and the wholesome moral which the story teaches will make the book a popular one for young readers Published by Roberts Brothers, Boston and for sale by Messrs D, Bugbee & Co

GILES' MINORITY, or Scenes at the Red House. The boys, for whom the author, Mrs Robert O Reilly, has designed this volume will find it a capital story in which she has drawn an excellent pen picture of a head strong boy who after many severe but wholesome lessons, throws off the self will and pride which for a time controled him and becomes a different and a better lad Roberts Brothers, publishers for sale by Messrs D Bugbee & Co

SONGS FROM THE SOUTHERN SEAS is the title of a volume of poems by John Boyle O'Reilly many of the scenes in which are laid in the penal colony in Western Australia There is no one of the poems the book contains that has not running through it a sort of realism that at once takes possession of the readers mind, and he looks upon, as it were an actual event Published by Roberts Brothers and for sale by Messrs D Bugbee & Co

THE ROSE OF DISENTIS This volume has been translated from the German by James J D Trenor It is the author, Heinrich Zschokke, narrates events which occurred during the French Revolutionary wars. The scene of the tragedy is laid in unfrequented valleys which belong to the most picturesque in Switzerland The beauty and purity of the story will make it a popular one. Sheldon & Company publishers, N Y For sale by Messrs D Bugbee & Co

THE LAST SHEAF This volume for juvenile readers, is a well written and interesting story, which shows how Paul the hero, struggled for the highest honors at school, using all means to acquire them for the sake of the applause of friends but at the moment of making the award actuated by better motives he confesses the deceptions he has practiced and stands aside that another who has labored manfully may justly receive the coveted prize Published by the Congregational Publishing Co, and for sale by Messrs D Bugbee & Co

A MAN OF HONOR. This novel is from the pen of George Cary Eggleston, who says in his preface that he has long been curious to know whether he could write a pretty good story and as he has succeeded in this instance his curiosity will probably demand further gratification The book is not without faults yet its merits are enough to more that balance the defects Published by Orange Judd & Co, N Y For sale by Messrs D Bugbee & Co

TEMPERANCE DRAMAS This little volume contains a series of dramas, comedies, and farces for Temperance exhibitions, home and school entertainments It has been prepared specially for the use of young persons by Mr George Barker Lee & Shepard, publishers Boston For sale by Messrs. D Bugbee & Co

THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD which was left incomplete by the death of Charles Dickens, is now given to the public in a completed form by T P James of Brattleboro', Vt Mr James has, as he asserts written out the finishing pages of the novel under the guidance of the spirit of the distinguished author who began it, so the reader might expect to peruse the story as it might have been had not death intervened to prevent its early completion The second part, or the portion which Mr James gives the public, if it is the diction of the once living Dickens, has wonderfully deteriorated from the excellence of the former part in some particulars that bespeak the authorship of one who might attempt, but never reach that summit from which the deceased author could look down on the world of novel writers. The volume is published by T P James, Brattleboro, Vt

STUFFING THE THANKSGIVING TURKEY

BY MRS H G ROWE

He was a noble fellow, a very prince among turkeys, but Susy looked upon him with an eye that expressed neither approval or satisfaction, and as the setting sun peeped in at the kitchen window, revealing for a moment the grand proportions of his portly frame, as he reposed in state upon the spot [illegible] pine table, she only muttered to herself as she brought her rolling pin down with an emphasis upon the round, white faces of the crackers upon the moulding board

"He's nothing but an advertisement of my skill in cookery, and that stupid owl of a Ben Toothacre will be more determined than ever to secure my services as a life long cook in his establishment. Ugh," with a grimace at the unconscious crackers. "I hate the very sight of his fat pimply face with its greedy eyes and great mouth that can talk of nothing but victuals and how he can eat more than any other man of his size in town—and to think that so sensible a man as father should be willing to endure, even to cultivate him just for the sake of the Toothacre acres (that's what poor John would call a pun I suppose)" and she laughed a little in spite of the tears that filled her eyes as she silently rolled chopped and seasoned the savory mass that was to take the place of the rifled contents of the deceased fowl's body, while as the twilight shadows crept slowly up, making dusky corners in the wide old kitchen, the gloom settled down more heavily upon her heart, and tears of sad foreboding stained her cheeks as she recalled the words of her father the evening before

"I want you to do your best on this Thanksgiving dinner, Susy, for I've asked Benjamin Toothacre and his mother to eat it with us," then as he caught the look of [illegible] surprise upon his daughter's face, he [illegible] more [illegible] than was his wont in speaking to his motherless girl

"[illegible] Toothacre is a friend of mine and I expect that you will treat him accordingly."

"Poor John! Manly honest, large hearted, [illegible] brains than would have sufficed [illegible] dozen generations of Toothacres, [illegible] as penniless or about to be, and Susy [illegible] with a pang a bit of news that he had heard that morning at the village store while she was waiting for the clerk to [illegible] paper of raisins

"It is a hard case," remarked one old loafer to another in response to some communication [illegible] that she had failed to notice, "for John Oakman is a good smart steady young man as you'll find anywhere but the fact is the old man left the place in bad shape with a mortgage on it that it takes all he can rake and scrape to pay the interest, an' if Watkins should foreclose as he threatens to do why he'll be left high an' dry, of course"

And here was Susy, an heiress in her own right to the snug little fortune that had been her mother's—a fortune that would pay off that terrible mortgage and give the man she loved a chance to begin life free and unfettered by the harrassing burden that had worried his less enterprising and courageous parent into his grave

Susy was a practical little body in spite of some romantic girlish notions, and even the rosy glamour of her first love dream could not blind her to the fact that but for her father's unreasonable opposition John Oakman might be the unencumbered possessor of a home and farm as well as a wife to help him care for and enjoy it.

And it's all on account of that hateful Ben Toothacre!" she sobbed under her breath. "Before he took a notion to hang round here father was always pleased to see John, and I've heard him say a hundred times that [illegible] was one of the likeliest young men in town, but now he hardly treats him with common civility. I wish," with a little jab of her mixing spoon into the savory mixture before her, "that his Thanksgiving dinner would choke him or [illegible] as she slowly [illegible] some dried sage leaves between her [illegible] "that he'd disapprove of my cooking so much that he'd never want to [illegible] any more of it."

She [illegible] her confidential [illegible] be [illegible] thought how unlikely it was [illegible] desirable consummation [illegible] about by her cookery but [illegible] she sighed heavily as she [illegible] John eating his lonely Thanksgiving dinner with nobody but his [illegible] housekeeper for company, not permitted even so much as a look at the dainties that had ... thought of him moulded into [illegible] and for the first time in her life the active little housekeeper felt that [illegible] ready for Thanksgiving was a task [illegible] a pleasureable excitement whose [illegible] laurels to her own [illegible] weary drag to her [illegible] closet where her herbs were stored or thanks to some grandmotherly [illegible] in her childish days, she had never [illegible] each season [illegible] medicinal and cooking purposes [illegible] dried and labelled by her [illegible] though the latter precaution [illegible] unnecessary in view of [illegible] separate [illegible] upon its [illegible] particular shelf [illegible] of that manner that she [illegible] the one she was [illegible] the dark straight that ever was [illegible] the reason perhaps, that she did not consider it necessary although the evening [illegible] everything moistured in the [illegible] closet and her eyes were dimmer [illegible] she fumbled among the cans [illegible] secured and fragrant bundles for the [illegible] savory whose peculiar flavor was to [illegible] the finishing touch to the almost completed stuffing

"[illegible] There I've dropped the label [illegible] of paper fell fluttering to the floor [illegible] no matter anybody can tell summer savory without even looking at it" and [illegible] rubbing the stiff spikes between her fingers she retraced her steps to the kitchen [illegible] that time that her father came in [illegible] supper the turkey was [illegible] established in a big baking pan his wings meekly folded above his wonderfully distended breast and those stately legs once the pride of the barnyard now help easily fettered by a [illegible]

"All ready for to-morrow Susy?" queried her father with a sidelong glance at the unusually grave face bent over the tea that she was pouring for him

"Yes sir"

"Nothing I can do to help you?"

"No sir"

This curtness was something unusual, and the old man's father y heart gave a throb of pain as he remembered the look half surprised half reproachful, with which his proposition of having the Toothacres to dinner on this the great feast day of the people had been received and, disguise it as he might under the names of girlish nonsense and willfulness he could not help seeing the repugnance with which Susy received the awkward attentions of their rich, but coarse minded neighbor, and the unmistakable pain in look and tone that always followed his slighting treatment of her old playmate and would be suitor young Oakman.

"Gals don't always know what is best for em," he mused over his pipe that evening "but, with a glance at the trim graceful figure opposite I do wish, myself, that Toothacre had a little more wit to go with his money

The tall eight day clock in farmer Harris' kitchen was just on the stroke of ten the following morning, when the sound of steps on the piazza and a blundering knock at the front door announced the arrival of the expected guests, and in welcoming and helping the old lady remove her wrappings Susy managed to escape the disagreeably familiar salutation of the delighted Ben, who was in high feather, evidently looking upon this invitation to dinner as a decided hint that his matrimonial projects would be received with favor whenever he chose to unfold them.

"Benjie's been ready these two hours," remarked Mrs. Toothacre with a little introductory snigggle as she shook out the folds of her best black dress that she had worn to do honor to the occasion.

"But I told 'im 'twant best to get here too early, before you'd got your head combed an' yer frock changed I a'int forgot when I was young an' had a beau, I should' a' been as mad as a wet hen if he'd a' caught me in my forenoon rig!"

Susy bridled angrily, and Ben giggled, while father Harris wisely essayed to turn the conversation by opening a discussion upon the subject of pigs, in which his younger neighbor took even more interest than farmers generally, having, as his mother feelingly remarked "a softside for all critters, pigs particularly," and being, moreover, so well posted in the peculiarities, habits and tastes of that interesting animal in that line without any extra tax upon his very limited supply of brain power, which was quite a consideration in his case

Left to the tender mercies of Mrs Toothacre, Susy was obliged to listen with all the patience she could muster, to a lengthened dissertion, upon the excellencies social and domestic of that lady's incomparable son

"There's one thing about Benjie," remarked the dame, lowering her voice to a confidential undertone and turning up to Susy's a face just about as expressionless as one of her own pie plates, "he's an excellent provider, an' anybody that's kep house knows what a comfort 'tis to have enough to do with, but with an impressive uplifting of her skinny, toil hardened hand "he don't want what he brings into the house spoiled in the cooking Now, he's said to me, time an' agin, 'marm I wouldn't marry the handsomest an' best woman in the world if she didn't know how to cook a dinner to suit me.' I remember the first time I mistrusted he was takin' a notion to you, He come home one night, he'd been helpin' yer pa get in his corn, an' says he marm Susy Harris makes the best riz biscuits and doughnuts that I ever eat in my life I declare for't, I couldn't eat enough of 'em

"'No doubt o n't,' says I 'Susy's had practice. She's kep house for her pa ever since she was thirteen years old, an' she ought ter know how to cook by this time, if she's ever goin to!'

"He didn't say much more at the time, but every now an then, he'd fling them riz biscuits into my face if mine wan't just up to the mark an at last I got out o' patience an' says I

"Benjie, why don't you get Susy Harris to do your cookin' altogether? I'm gettin' too old to stan' it much longer, an' when I give out you'll have to have somebody'

He looked at me a minute an' then he shook his head, an' says he, solemnly

Biscuits ain't everything an doughnuts ain't everything, I'll try her mince pies an' cider apple sarce before I take sech an important step as that.'

There now, that's jest like 'im' commented the old lady in an ecstacy of admiration, He's that prudent in everything, none o' yer hotheaded, rushin' sort, but one that always looks before he leaps. He won't never ruin his fammerly with idle speculations, I can tell you!

Susy's rage had had time to cool somewhat and her sense of humor was fast getting the ascendancy over her temper as she asked demurely

"How does he like my pies and apple sauce now that he has had the opportunity of trying them?"

"Very—well— indeed."

The words rolled slowly from the old lady's tongue with an unctious sweetness that reminded her listner of a well buttered stick of molasses taffy and there was a look of complacent proprietorship in the eyes that rested upon her that the young girl felt as an added aggravation

"Perhaps my cooking taken as a whole might not suit him so well," she said with tart significance and if the cool ry did I'm sure the cook wouldn't

The old lady laughed placidly

"I'll resk it!" she said, with a glance of maternal pride at the broad shouldered heavy browed lubber who was in her partial eyes a perfect model of manly grace and beauty

Benjie'd be real able and make allowances for all shortcomings He'll be a peaceable husband like his father before 'im, jest as long as he sees that anybody is doin' their very best to please 'im

Susy set her teeth with an angry grip, and even Mrs Toothacre was a little shaken out of her motherly abstraction by the sharpness of her tones as she said, curtly

"It's nothing to me what kind of a husband he makes," then, with a sudden remembrance of the courtesy due to a guest she added with an effort

"If you will excuse me now, I will go and see about my dinner Pray make yourself comfortable"

"Yes yes, to be sure!" smiled the easily mollified dame and Susy shut the parlor door behind her with a long breath of relief

Would this thrice tedious day ever come to end and the father and herself be left in peace to the pleasant quiet of their own unshared fireside? But if this day were to be lengthened into weeks, months, years a life time perhaps?" She fairly shuddered at the thought

Prospectus for 1874, Seventh Year.

The Aldine,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores

THE ALDINE while issued with all the regularity has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure light and graceful literature and a collection of pictures the rarest specimens of artistic skill in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness as compared with rivals of a similar class THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost and then there are the [illegible]

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world wide reputation and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of steel plates is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The wood cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing, for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy and other noted American artists THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will at a trifling cost enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of real art

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thomas Moran and J D Woodward

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors

PREMIUM FOR 1874

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE by Thomas Moran whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West" One is a view in the White Mountains New Hampshire the other gives The Cliffs of Green River Wyoming Territory The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates and are in size (12 x16) and appearance exact facsimiles of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial, over the signature of Mr Moran himself

NEWARK N J Sept 20th, 1873

Messrs JAMES SUTTON & CO

Gentlemen—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings

Very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS MORAN

These chromos are in every sense American They are by an original American process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter and presented to subscribers to the first successful American art Journal If no better because of all this they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire and neither are they any the worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home" a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free!

For 50 cents extra, [illegible] sent, mounted, [illegible]

THE ALDINE will [illegible] by subscription [illegible] rate cash for subscriptions [illegible] publishers direct, or handed [illegible] local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers except in cases where the certificate is given bearing the fac simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Passed at the Third Session of the Forty-second Congress.

Convention between the United States of America and Denmark Naturalization. Concluded July 20, 1872, Ratified January 22, 1873, Ratifications exchanged March 14, 1873, Proclaimed April 15, 1873.

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas a convention between the United States of America and His Majesty the King of Denmark relative to the naturalization of citizens and subjects of the two countries, was concluded and signed at Copenhagen by their respective plenipotentiaries on the twentieth day of July, 1872, the original of which convention being in the English and Danish languages, is word for word as follows

The United States of America and His Majesty the King of Denmark being desirous to regulate the citizenship of the citizens of the United States of America who have emigrated or who may emigrate, from the United States of America to the Kingdom of Denmark, and of Danish subjects who have emigrated or who may emigrate, from the Kingdom of Denmark to the United States of America have resolved to conclude a convention for that purpose and have named as their plenipotentiaries, that is to say the President of the United States of America Michael J Cramer minister resident of the United States of America at Copenhagen, and His Majesty the King of Denmark Otto Ditlev Baron Rosenorn Lehn commander of Danebrog and Danebrogsmand chamberlain, His Majesty's minister for foreign affairs, &c., &c. &c

Who after having communicated to each other their respective full powers found to be in good and due form having agreed upon and concluded the following articles to wit

ARTICLE I

Citizens of the United States of America who have become or shall become, and are, naturalized according to law within the Kingdom of Denmark as Danish subjects, shall be held by the United States of America to be in all respects and for all purposes Danish subjects, and shall be treated as such by the United States of America.

In like manner, Danish subjects who have become or shall become, and are naturalized according to law within the United States of America as citizens thereof shall be held by the Kingdom of Denmark to be in all respects and for all purposes as citizens of the United States of America and shall be treated as such by the Kingdom of Denmark

ARTICLE II

If any such citizen of the United States, as aforesaid naturalized within the Kingdom of Denmark as a Danish subject should renew his residence in the United States, the United States government may, on his application and on such conditions as that government may see fit to impose readmit him to the character and privileges of a citizen of the United States and the Danish government shall not in that case claim him as a Danish subject on account of his former naturalization

In like manner, if any such Danish subject as aforesaid naturalized within the United States as a citizen thereof should renew his residence within the Kingdom of Denmark, His Majesty's government may, on his application and on such conditions as that government may think fit to impose readmit him to the character and privileges of a Danish subject and the United States government shall not in that case claim him as a citizen of the United States on account of his former naturalization

ARTICLE III

If, however, a citizen of the United States naturalized in Denmark shall renew his residence in the former country without the intent to return to that in which he was naturalized he shall be held to have renounced his naturalization

In like manner if a Dane naturalized in the United States shall renew his residence in Denmark without the intent to return to the former country he shall be held to have renounced his naturalization in the United States

The intent not to return may be held to exist when a person naturalized in the one country shall reside more than two years in the other country

ARTICLE IV.

The present convention shall go into effect immediately on or after the exchange of the ratifications and shall continue in force for ten years If neither party shall have given to the other six months previous notice of its intention then to terminate the same it shall further remain in force until the end of twelve months after either of the contracting parties shall have given notice to the other of such intention

ARTICLE V

The present convention shall be ratified by the President of the United States of America, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate thereof and by His Majesty the King of Denmark and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Copenhagen as soon as may be, within eight months from the date hereof

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the same and have affixed thereto their respective seals

Done at Copenhagen, the twentieth day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy two

MICHAEL J CRAMER.
O D ROSENORN LEHN.

And whereas the said convention has been duly ratified on both parts, and the respective ratifications were exchanged at Copenhagen on the 14th day of March 1873 by Michael J Cramer minister resident of the United States of America at Copenhagen and Otto Ditlev Rosenorn Lehn Commander of Danebrog and Danebrogsmand chamberlain His Majesty's minister for foreign affairs &c &c on the part of their respective governments

Now therefore be it known that I Ulysses S Grant President of the United States of America, have caused the said convention to be made public to the end that the same and every clause and article thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and citizens thereof

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed

Done at the city of Washington this fifteenth day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy three and of the Independence of the United States of America the ninety seventh

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas objects of interest to the United States require that the Senate should be convened at twelve o'clock on the fourth of March next to receive and act upon such communication as may be made to it on the part of the Executive

Now, therefore, I Ulysses S Grant President of the United States, have considered it to be my duty to issue this proclamation declaring that an extraordinary occasion requires the Senate of the United States to convene for the transaction of business at the Capitol, in the city of Washington, on the fourth day of March next, at twelve o'clock at noon on that day of which all who shall at that time be entitled to act as members of that body are hereby required to take notice

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States at Washington, the twenty first day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the ninety seventh

By the President U S GRANT
HAMILTON FISH Secretary of State.

TREATY

Agreement between the United States and Spain for the Settlement of certain Claims of Citizens of the United States, made by Daniel E Sickles Esq., Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States at Madrid and His Excellency Senor Don Cristino Martos minister of State of Spain. Concluded February 12 1871

Memorandum of an arbitration for the settlement of the claims of citizens of the United States or of their heirs, against the government of Spain for wrongs and injuries committed against their persons and property or against the persons and property of citizens of whom the said heirs are the legal representatives by the authorities of Spain in the island of Cuba or within the maritime jurisdiction thereof since the commencement of the present insurrection

1 It is agreed that all such claims shall be submitted to arbitrators one to be appointed by the Secretary of State of the United States another by the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of Spain at Washington, and these two to name an umpire who shall decide all questions upon which they shall be unable to agree and act in case of either arbitrator, or of the umpire shall from any cause become vacant such vacancy shall be filled forthwith in the manner herein provided for the original appointment

2 The arbitrators and umpire so named shall meet at Washington within one month from the date of their appointment and shall before proceeding to business make and subscribe a solemn declaration that they will impartially and carefully examine and decide to the best of their judgment and according to public law [illegible] all claims submitted to them under the conditions of these presents [illegible] in conformity with this agreement [illegible] conformity with the [illegible]

3 Each government may name an advocate to appear before the arbitrators or the umpire to represent its interests [illegible]

4 The arbitrators shall have full power subject to these stipulations and it shall be their duty [illegible] to adopt such rules of proceeding as they may think proper [illegible] in the presentation of the proofs [illegible]

5 The arbitrators shall have jurisdiction of all claims presented to them by the government of the United States for injuries done to citizens of the United States by the authorities of Spain in Cuba since the first day of October 1868 [illegible] from and after the twenty fourth of October 1795 between the United States and Spain may be reviewed by the arbitrators who shall make such award as any sentence [illegible] No judgment of a Spanish tribunal, disallowing the affirmation of a party that he is a citizen of the United States shall prevent the arbitrator from hearing a reclamation presented [illegible] Spanish Government nevertheless in any such case traverse the allegation of American citizenship and thereupon competent and sufficient proof thereof will be required. The commission having recognized the quality of American citizen in the claimants they will acquire the rights accorded to them by the present stipulations as such citizens. And it is further agreed that the arbitrators shall not have jurisdiction of any reclamation made in behalf of a native Spanish subject naturalized in the United States if it shall appear that the same subject matter having been adjudicated by a competent tribunal in Cuba and the claimant having appeared either in person or by his duly appointed attorney and being required by the laws of Spain to make a declaration of his nationality, failed to declare that he was a citizen of the United States in such case and for the purposes of this arbitration he shall be deemed and taken that he claimant by his own default had renounced his allegiance to the United States. And it is further agreed that the arbitrators shall not have jurisdiction of any demand growing out of contracts

6 The expenses of the arbitration will be defrayed by a percentage to be added to the amount awarded. The compensation of the arbitrators and umpire shall not exceed three thousand dollars each; the amount allowance shall be made to each of the two advocates representing respectively the two governments and the arbitrators may employ a secretary at a compensation not exceeding the five dollars a day for every day actually and necessarily given to the business of the arbitration,

[illegible] governments [illegible] the awards made in the several cases submitted to the said arbitrators shall be [illegible] conclusive and will give full effect to the same in good faith and as soon as possible

Mr F. W Kinsman.—Dear Sir—We have had in all about 25 gross Adamson's Balsam, and have retailed nearly 40 dozen of it over our retail counter Parties have been in and bought it the second time, and all pronounce it one of the best medicines in the market for coughs and colds. Some of our men have used it and say it is the best remedy they have tried.

Dr. Huntington says —I have known Dr Kinsman's Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam for some time, and I regard it far before any medicine of its kind. I have used it in my practice and in my own family with complete success.
